

CALIFORNIA PROOF REQUIREMENTS FOR NON-RESIDENTS

This form is used by a driver that does not live in California but who has to file proof of financial responsibility to end a California driver license suspension or revocation action.

“Residency” (or “where you are a resident”) is defined in California Vehicle Code (CVC) Section 12505 (a) as the state where a person has his or her true, fixed, and permanent home and principal residence and to which he or she has manifested the intention of returning whenever he or she is absent. Evidence of residency for driver licensing purposes includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Address where you registered to vote.
- Payment of resident tuition at a public institution of higher education.
- Filing a homeowner’s property tax exemption.
- Other acts, occurrences, or events that indicate presence in the state is more than temporary or transient.

You will usually need to keep “Proof” on file with Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) for three years from the first date you file insurance to end the action. “Proof”, when required, is either a:

- California Insurance Proof Certificate (form SR-22/SR-1P) issued by an insurance company authorized to do business in California
- $75,000 surety bond in a department-approved format. Bond information must be obtained from a surety bond company authorized in California, or
- Deposit with this department of $75,000 in cash. For information on the cash deposit or self-insurance you may call (916) 657-6677.

For a non-California insurance document to be acceptable, your out-of-state insurance company must be authorized to do business in your state or province and you must complete and return a Declaration Regarding Certificate of Insurance for Non-Resident Driver (form DL 300 on the next page). Cash deposits, bonds and California proof certificates (form SR-22) do not require a DL 300. A Financial Responsibility Insurance Certificate (form SR-22) is available and acceptable in most states. NOTE: Residents of Arizona, Nevada, and Oregon can only use the SR-22 form in place of the California certificate.

Insurance ID cards, evidence of insurance forms, insurance policies, or policy declarations must:

- A. Include a statement similar to this: “[name of company] certifies it has issued this motor vehicle liability policy as required by the laws of this State, and the policy is now in effect”.
- B. Name you as an insured.
- C. Include the name of the insurance company, the policy number, and the policy effective date.

If your insurance company cannot supply a certificate or other form with this information, ask the company to write a letter to the California Department of Motor Vehicles that includes the requirements (A through C) above. Make yourself a copy, and send the original letter to this department as your certificate.
